THE POPE IS NO WORSE

DR. LAPPONI'S VIEWS ON LEO'S CONDITION

Passed A Quiet Night and Feels Less Distressed—Preparations for Funeral Still in Progress—Operation Postponed.

Rome, July 17, 8:25 p. m.—"I cannot say the pope is better, but he is no worse." In these words Dr. Lapponi summed up for the Associated Press this evening the pontiff's condition at the end of the second week of his illness, as in the all varying period of which the pontiff has had scarcely a quieter day than this, with the result that to night's official bulletin declares him to be a little less depressed.

In the morning after a night during which stimulants and nursing restored him to fairly good condition, the pope complained of soreness due to the many days he had passed in bed. To relieve this and to humor him the patient was allowed to sit in his arm chair for a short time with apparent good effect. Celebration of mass in honor of St. Leo and the pope's conversation with Monsignor Pifferi were the only other incidents which to day relieved the tedium of the sick chamber.

After the visit of physicians the pope received Rampioni, who remained in the sick room only a few minutes. He again gave the pontiff full report to prayers offered in his behalf all over the world. His holiness raising both hands said: "I thank all those who pray to God for me."

Preparations continue for the death of the pontiff. A huge spit, twelve feet long, which has been used for roasting fowl for the conclaves since the time of Gregory XIV., was brought from the store room to day and will be employed to roast quarters of beef for the isolated cardinals while they are deliberating in conclave over the election of a successor to Leo XIII.

Rome, July 17.—The pope's condition this afternoon showed some amelioration, the fluid in the pleura had not continued to rise and doctors decided to further postpone the operation. During the night as well as throughout the morning the pope continued calm and his breathing was better. He very frequently spooned meat broth alternated with a half spoonful of chicken gelatin. When asleep the pontiff appeared dead. When awake the pope usually appears to retain life only in the brilliant black eyes, although he recovered lucidity of his mind this morning and gave fresh proof of his wonderful memory by saying: "To day is the feast of St. Leo. I have never failed to assist at mass since, when almost a boy, I came to Rome to participate in the jubilee of Leo XII. I wish a mass to day." The pontiff's desire was immediately gratified by Monsignor Marcolini celebrating mass in the chapel adjoining the sick room.

After the visit of the doctors the pope said he could not stay in bed, as it made him restless, his limbs were uncomfortable and he felt pains all over his body. Therefore he wished to go back to his arm chair. No opposition being made the pope started to dress himself, but much to his astonishment he found he could not do so. With the assistance of his valet he was dressed and almost carried to the arm chair. The doctors think unless complications set in the pope may live for days, even weeks, longer.

BEAVERS IS WANTED

Former Postoffice Officer Indicted for Bribery—Whereabouts Unknown.

New York, July 17.—A bench warrant was issued by Judge Thomas of the United States circuit court at Brooklyn to day for the arrest of George W. Beavers, formerly chief of the division of salaries and allowances of the postoffice department, on an indictment charging him with accepting a bribe of $300. It is understood payments to Beavers were traced back to a purchase by the government of the Brandt-Dent Cash Registering Machine company.

Washington, July 17.—Issuance of a bench warrant for the arrest of George W. Beavers is the culmination of an investigation which has been in progress since his sudden resignation last spring. One of the first results of the investigation was the cancellation of 3,000 promotions that had been passed on by him, to take effect at postoffices throughout the country during the present fiscal year. The case on which the present action of the grand jury is based, it is said, is a more recent development. Authorities are now searching for Beavers to place him under arrest. His present whereabouts are unknown.

SAILING FOR EUROPE

New York, July 17.—Among the prominent persons who sailed for Liverpool to day on the White Star steamer Celtic were Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Mrs. Lodge, Congressman Gaines and Mrs. Gaines of Tennessee, Honorable and Potter Palmer, John Patterson of the National Cash Register company, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ford.

HORRORS OF SIBERIA

Repeated by Camp Bosses in South—People Bitten Till Backs Were Bloody.

Atlanta, Ga., July 17.—Stories that suggest the atrocities alleged to be practiced by Russian officials on exiles sent to Siberia were told by witnesses of the commission of Georgia, Joseph M. Terrell, president.

The charges under investigation are those made against the Broach brothers, wealthy planters of Oglethorpe county, who run a misdemeanor camp, and it is alleged they have not only treated prisoners with shocking brutality, but have kept dozens of them in servitude for months after their terms had expired. Devereux Burdell, a negro, who was put on the stand, testified that he had been sent to the Broach camp from Clarksville. His term expired on Friday, March 13, and he was not discharged until three months later. He was whipped repeatedly in the meantime because he protested against his detention. Burdell said that Ben Moon, a prisoner, had been repeatedly whipped for not working right and that he died soon after one of these beatings.

Burdell then described how he was whipped. He said he was tied down and strapped with a leather strap. He showed scars on his back which he said were made by the whippings. He had been given clothes when discharged, but no ticket to go home.

Burdell also swore that time and again after prisoners had been whipped until their backs were raw and bleeding sand had been rubbed into the wounds, causing frightful agony.

Other witnesses testified to similar cruel treatment and bared their backs, showing the governor the scars left by the lashes.

BUZZARD IS GUARDED

Correspondents are Kept Away From Langley's New Airship.

Widewater, Va., July 17.—After an all-night's fierce engagement with the mosquitoes the brigade of newspaper men sent down here to ascertain if Professor Langley's airship can fly any better than it can sink, embarked in their fleet of catboats, scows and other gorgeous craft to continue their inspection of the strange craft moored four miles out. The inventor refused absolutely to give any information as to his preparations for the first flight of the "Buzzer," as his machine has been named by the wondering natives hereabouts. More than that, he has issued orders that none of the scribes be allowed to board the ark on whose roof rests the pride of his career. Whether the experiments will begin to day or next week no one but Professor Langley knows, and he won't tell. He regards the correspondents as intruders, wishing himself to be the announcer to the public of the success of his plans. The best "the enemy" has been able to do thus far is to cruise around and around the ark and watch the workmen aboard adjusting the parts of the machine. Apparently Professor Langley recruited his labor from a deaf and dumb institution.

The greatest interest is being shown by the natives on both shores. According to the latest census the population of Widewater was 41 souls. This is the winter figure, however, but the advent of the American Santos Dumont has caused as many as six to remain this year. This brave little band is willing to forego all the discomforts of summer life at Widewater if they may only have the privilege of viewing the first ascent of the Buzzer. One or two, actuated by the basest of motives, reckon they might be able to earn a couple of dollars helping to grapple for the remains of the machine should it take a notion to swim instead of fly.

Soldad, Venezuela, July 17.—General Gomez has completed the investment of Ciudad Bolivar and none can now leave the city. Lieutenant Commander Culver, commanding the United States gunboat Bancroft, after a conference with the commanding officer of the Venezuelan squadron, decided to take under his protection all river steamers belonging to the American-Orinoco Steamship company recently seized by revolutionists at Ciudad Bolivar. He also requested women and children of American and other foreign colonies at Ciudad Bolivar to take refuge on steamers in order to escape dangers of the siege, shelling of the town and possible battle. In accordance with this invitation many women and children, a number of whom were Germans, embarked early to day on American steamers which, escorted by the Bancroft, left in direction of San Felix, probably enroute to Trinidad.

INDIANAPOLIS SALOONS HIT

Indianapolis, July 17.—The disorderly saloon must face a new enemy, as the Indiana Brewers' association has decided on a campaign that is to be more effective than the Anti-Saloon league, which is wiping out nearly one hundred saloons a month.

GIRL WAS RESTRAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Look, of Peoria, Object to the Marriage of Their Daughter.

Peoria, July 17.—M. Look, a coal miner of East Peoria, accompanied by his wife, requested the Peoria police to act with a view to restoring their daughter to them. They claim that the girl was held a prisoner against their will, that she was about to be removed outside the state and that she was about to be married, also against their will and consent.

According to the story of the Looks the girl, who is 15 years of age, has been kept in company with the son of the Bohns—Clarence, aged 17. They attempted to put a stop to it, but it appears without success.

They assert with vehemence that the girl is in possession of the Bohns, or at least they know of her whereabouts. The Bohns are about to remove to Missouri, where they will make their future home. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the boy, charging him with abduction. Officers went to his home, but could find no trace of him. He has completely disappeared and it is presumed he is in Peoria. No trace of the girl has been found.

BUNKO SCHOOL MARMS

New York Get Rich Quick Concern Seizes Their Carefully Hoarded Savings.

New York, July 17.—Miss Lydia R. DeGroat, a school teacher of Cleveland, Ohio, appealed to Inspector McCluskey at police headquarters last evening to investigate the affairs of the vanished "American Finance Co."

Miss DeGroat says she invested some money as an experiment and received a handsome "dividend." Then she put in some more money until finally she had $250 in the concern and also had interested her friends until between forty and fifty Cleveland school teachers had money up. Only a few weeks ago, she says, a woman teacher in Cleveland sent $80, the savings of several years, for investment.

Inspector McCluskey heard her story and advised her to return at once to Cleveland and get her papers and proofs and get out her complaints if possible. She left last night, promising to return.

The inspector then started out a number of detectives on the trail of "Financier" Fernando Baltes, the president; W. H. Meyer, the vice president, and others connected with the concern. It has done business in numerous western cities and the police have the addresses of many persons who claim to have been swindled.

But the ambassador declined to make public any information respecting the representation made or views of Lord Lansdowne. The foreign office also declined to comment on the matter.

INJUNCTION AFFIRMED

Chicago, July 17.—The appellate court to day affirmed the injunction issued at the beginning of the strike at the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company's plant against picketing by strikers. MAUDE JORDINE FREE

Detective Butler Hissed by the Crowd at Hearing in Bloomington.

Bloomington, July 17.—Maude Jordine, accused of the murder of her 2-year-old sister Mabel, was discharged on hearing by Justice Heineman last night. Detective Butler, who arrested the girl, was hissed and almost assaulted by the crowd of 2,000 people which had gathered about the place where the preliminary examination was being held. Public sympathy was with the accused girl all through the trial and when State's Attorney Fleming entered a motion to dismiss the case he was roundly cheered. Feeling is very strong against Butler, whom the people accuse of having acted hastily.

The dismissal of the case against Maude Jordine leaves the murder still a deep mystery, but there are several clues being followed up which may result in the final capture of the murderer.

SMITH A GOLF WINNER

Washau Man Captures Western Open Championship at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, July 17.—Alex Smith, of Washau, captured the western golf open championship by completing seventy-two holes with a score of 318 strokes. He was closely pressed by David Brown, of Wollaston, and Lawrence Auchterlone, of Glenwood, who came home with 320 strokes. Hart Turple, of Auburn Park, was but one point behind these two with 321, while the former champion, Willie Anderson, of Apawamis, finished fifth with 323. F. McLeod, of Rockford, was one point behind Anderson with 324. The concluding eighteen holes were played during a heavy rain. Alex Smith, the winner, played what is called constant golf throughout the tournament. Only once was he headed and that by Gilbert Nichols, of St. Louis, who was two points ahead at the end of the fifty-fourth hole. Nichols fell down badly in the final round.

THE INCIDENT IS CLOSED

Washington, July 17.—It is stated by the secretary of state that the incident created by the question of presentation of the Jewish petition to Russia is closed. The state department to day made public all correspondence that had taken place respecting the petition. Its substance has already been forecasted in the president's despatches. The correspondence consists of instructions to Mr. Riddle United States charge at St. Petersburg, reciting in detail the petition and directing him to present the same to the foreign office if it were willing to receive it. It is stated by Riddle the foreign office would not receive it under any circumstances and Secretary Hay also informed the B'nai B'rith committee in a brief telegram.

New York, July 17.—Leon N. Levi, when informed by the Associated Press of the action of Secretary Hay regarding the petition to the czar against massacre of Jews, said Russia's answer was no surprise. The movement, however, has had all the god effects contemplated, he said, and it has enabled the American people and the government to make an enduring record of their views on the Kischineff horror.

GIRL HOLDS TROOPS AT BAY

Jackson, Ky., July 17.—Once more the residents of Jackson are expecting a tragedy. "Bandy" O'Connor has become involved in trouble with the soldiers and has resisted arrest. It is not believed that he can be taken alive. The soldiers have announced that they propose to place O'Connor under arrest.

O'Connor is regarded as one of the most desperate of the many bad men who infest Breathitt county. In the effort on the part of the militiamen to maintain order in Jackson they came in conflict with O'Connor's arrest on the charge of disorderly conduct.

The warrant was given to one of the non-commissioned officers to serve. He took with him five privates and went to O'Connor's house. O'Connor was not at home, so his daughter said, but the soldiers insisted on searching the house. She resisted this and stepping inside the door reappeared with a Winchester shotgun, which she leveled at the soldiers. They persisted in entering, when she snapped the gun at them. Fortunately it was not loaded and no one was hurt, but the soldiers retreated, as they could not shoot at the girl and yet were exposed to danger at her hands.

O'Connor, while the daughter held the soldiers at bay in front, got away and is still at large.

STRANGE FIND IN PHILIPPINES

REPORTED BY NOTED EXPLORER, H. LANDOR

Dwarfs Dwelling in Trees Resembling Those Found in Africa by Stanley are Discovered in Island of Mindanao.

Washington, July 17.—Mail advices to the war department from the Philippines state that Henry Savage Landor, the noted explorer, has discovered in the interior of Mindanao island a race of tree dwellers, closely allied to the dwarfs found by Stanley and Du Chailu in Central Africa. Like them, they dwell in houses built in the tree tops and display a most wonderful agility in traveling from branch to branch through the forest. Mr. Landor, who is the son of the late Walter Landor, the English poet, and who has made a name for himself through his travels and publications upon Thibet, China and Japan and the interior of Asia, says of his new discovery that he was passing through a rather thick growth of timberland one afternoon when he was considerably surprised to find his way blocked by the base of a crudely built ladder that extended into the almost impenetrable foliage above his head. Mr. Landor decided to mount the ladder. Reaching the top he found a platform of poles built between two limbs and supporting a rude hut of nipa and bamboo.

Suddenly a strange looking woman appeared from an aperture in one side of the house and confronted the daring explorer. With a grunt of rage she grabbed up an earthenware pot and hurled it at him. Fortunately he escaped injury, but lost no time in regaining terra firma. He made several ineffectual efforts to place himself on a peace footing with the lady on the platform above, and finally, as a last resort began to roll about on the ground, to sing and in other ways carry on as if he were crazy. This ruse had the required effect and he was soon surrounded by a number of tree dwellers, with whom he was soon on good terms.

Subsequently he secured photographs of several distinct types of his new friends and also picked up several words of their language.

A MAJORITY OF ONE

Interpreting Municipal Election in Alton Majority Sent Case.

Alton, July 17.—An interesting situation has been the result of the recount of the ballots cast in the last Alton municipal election in the contest case in the city court between former Mayor A. W. Young and Mayor Henry Brueggemann. After Judge Vaughn announced his decision in the case of the ballots objected to in the recount it was found that Young had a majority of one vote over Brueggemann. Brueggemann has 1,306 votes and Young 1,307.

Judge Vaughn announced that he would hear evidence Tuesday in the contest case. The fact that in some of the wards, regardless of political preference, the election officers did not closely observe the law in conducting the election may give ground for throwing out the vote of some of the wards. It is announced by the Brueggemann side that the case will go to the supreme court if the final decision is against them.

PHYSICIANS WANT CHANGE

The physicians and county board of Cass county have clashed, the Cass County Medical society desiring a change in the method of paying for pauper service. Hitherto the contract for attending paupers has been let by bids, and the physicians desire a discontinuance of this practice. To enforce this they refuse to make bids for the ensuing year and past contracts having expired, the county is now without a county physician.

The physicians desire regular rates for pauper attendance, which would largely increase the cost to the county. The commissioners are trying to obtain bids under the old system, and offer larger salaries. The cost of medical attendance for paupers in the county for the year just ended was about $500 exclusive of smallpox cases.

STOLEN EXPRESS MONEY.

The American Express company, has partially cleared up the mystery about a package of $1,000 that disappeared from its office at Tuscola, Ill., June 3 last. At that time Hugh Handley, the driver of the express wagon, was arrested and released on bond of $1,500, charged with taking it. Recently the money was found concealed in a refrigerator in the rear part of the company's office, stuffed into a glass fruit jar. Seventy dollars was missing from the package, the sum found being $930. All efforts of the detectives to trace it were without avail and the mystery is, who placed it there? It was sent from a Chicago bank to be delivered to the national bank of Fairland, Ill.

The proprietors of Foley's Honey and Tar do not advertise this as a "sure cure" for consumption. They do not claim it will cure this dread complaint in advanced cases, but do positively assert that it will cure in the earlier stages and never fails to give comfort and relief in the worst cases. The Most Perfect BLOOD PURIFIER That Can Be Found.

Do not expect to see anything with a long tail. The tail is there, two of them, many miles long, but not yet visible to the naked eye.

The comet looks like a shiny star with a long tail. It is not as brilliant as many times as Alpha Cygni, but corresponds rather to a star of the third or fourth magnitude.

NEW COMET IS RUSHING

TOWARD THE SUN WITH TREMENDOUS SPEED.

Within a Week It Will Be Nearly Visible to the Naked Eye—Looks Like a Shiny Star With a Hair Around It.

Borelli's comet, the latest wanderer through the universe to come within our solar system, is approaching the earth with bewildering velocity.

It is shooting in parabola toward the sun, changing its position some five degrees daily. Within a week its double tail will so greatly have enlarged and its distance from the earth so decreased that, tails and all, it will be visible to the naked eye.

Astronomers think it possible that the phenomena recorded in 1858, when Donati's comet for nine months was visible, stretching from horizon to zenith, a stream of fire, a translucent radiance, will be repeated.

A comet is a miracle of astronomy, which astronomers do not pretend to explain. It comes, no man knows how, nor whence. It goes, no man knows whether, or why. Out of the far beyond, where the stars twinkle, millions upon trillions of miles distant, the tenuous body of light, attracted by the sun, comes sweeping within the ken of men.

In three curves such bodies travel—the ellipse, the parabola, the hyperbola. If an ellipse the comet will return, since its course is defined. If an hyperbola or a parabola, then the comet is indeed a vagrant, and concerning it only one thing is sure. Never will it return, once gone. Away it whirls; often moving 100 miles a second, to follow its parabolic or hyperbolic curve until it comes within the influence of another sun, and then it begins upon another parabola. With such a chariot one could visit all the remote corners of the universe if a few million years were available for the journey.

ASTRONOMER'S VIEW.

Father C. M. Charropin, astronomer at St. Louis university, has observed the comet Borelli. He has had but one opportunity, owing to the cloudy weather which has prevailed for the last three nights. But now he is nightly on watch for a good chance to study this latest celestial derelict.

"It is a matter of great interest," said he, "but of no moment. I do not expect the comet to develop into one of unusual proportions. As it approaches the sun the tail becomes larger. First the tail is behind, like that of a kite, but after it passes perihelion, goes round the sun, then the tail switches to the front.

"Why is this? Some astronomers say it is an electric force of repulsion emanating from the sun, but all are not agreed. In fact, I think those of our science must eventually admit that we know very little about comets—that is, as to why and wherefore. By means of the spectroscopic we know that the comet proper is heavily charged with hydrogen and consists of particles of matter shining with their own light. The spectroscopic shows that the tails are of three kinds, either hydrogen gas, or hydro-carbon gas, or vapors of iron.

"That it should have two tails is not remarkable. One seen in 1843 had seven tails. The name comes from the Latin 'coma,' meaning hair.

"The comet's coming is no menace to the earth. We could collide with it and not suffer material damage. In 1858 the earth passed through the tail of Donati's comet, but no effects were to be seen. The gases of the comet did not penetrate our atmosphere. Had they done so the consequences might have been serious.

The theory concerning comets is that they are simply matter in space. Nothing in nature ever is still. No such thing as a 'fixed' star exists. Everything is moving and must move. The result seems to be that these unattached bodies are hurled about, now within scope of this and now of that sun's power, madly racing from sphere to sphere. Donati's comet, first traveling in a parabola, was so influenced by Jupiter that its course became an ellipse. It must, then, at some future date, about four thousand years hence, return to us.

HOW TO SEE THE COMET.

Stand facing northeast at about 9 o'clock a clear evening.

Look up at an angle of about forty-five degrees. You will have no trouble in seeing Alpha Cygni, a brilliant star of the first magnitude.

No other star of equal magnitude is in that section of the firmament, unless it be Vega, which at 8 o'clock will be almost directly overhead.

Taking Alpha Cygni as your cue trace out "The Swan," a constellation shaped something like a cross, the points and center formed of five large stars, scattered between which are very small stars.

The lowest star of the cross is called Beta Cygni. The comet is now near Beta Cygni, south of Alpha Cygni.

Do not expect to see anything with a long tail. The tail is there, two of them, many miles long, but not yet visible to the naked eye.

The comet looks like a shiny star with a hair around it. It is not as brilliant as many times as Alpha Cygni, but corresponds rather to a star of the third or fourth magnitude.

WOMEN FOR MEN.

"I don't see what you find funny about it," wept Eve.

"You women don't seem to have any sense of humor," replied her spouse. "We may be living in the suburbs now, but there is no train to catch here."

SHE KNEW IT ALL.

The Man Who Stated One Chance of Getting a Position.

"Dear me, but I had a narrow escape," said a young woman to an acquaintance as she entered a Sixth avenue surface car last Friday afternoon and, with a sigh of relief, took a seat beside the other.

"Nearly run over by an automobile," asked her friend.

"Worse than that. I went in an intelligence office over on the corner there—though why they call them intelligence offices is more than I can imagine, for that is the most scarce commodity in them. I went to get a maid and for a moment thought that I had succeeded in finding a treasure. It was an awfully narrow escape, and because, womanlike, she said too much I was saved."

"Saved from what?" asked the other. "Do tell me!"

"Well," continued the first speaker, "the girl impressed me very favorably indeed and appeared to be just what I was looking for. When she saw that I had about made up my mind to engage her she tried to elude matters by making the remark that saved me from having her in the house."

"What remark? Do tell!"

"I see that you are a young housekeeper and may lack experience," she said, "so I can be of particular help to you in telling just how everything should be done so as to be correct, for I lived with Mrs. Van Tuijler for three years and know the ways of the very best society. While I am in the house you need not be afraid of making a faux pas."

"Horror! Imagine having such a creature as that in the house! Think of being told every day how Mrs. Van Tuijler did things and having a talkative woman about telling you how to avoid a faux pas! I just turned on my heel and left the place without ceremony. How thankful I am for my escape!" —New York Herald.

The Plumber's Mistake.

A plumber was called in to execute some repairs in the kitchen of a deaf and dumb establishment, and, after instructing the man as to the nature of the repairs, the superintendent left him to do the job. Without a moment's loss of time the craftsman set to work with a will, much regretting, of course, that the attractive feminine staff and everybody around him could not be talked to.

Evening came on, and the workman, having finished the job, shouldered his tools and turned to leave. As he did so a bonnie, bright-eyed domestic laughingly remarked:

"Well, you're the quietest plumber we've ever had here."

"Good heavens!" he gasped, almost dropping his tools. "Why, I thought you were all deaf and dumb." —London Telegraph.

Costly Drugs.

Unless you are a druggist you have no idea of the value represented by a little shelf in the prescription department of a big drug store. It is one of the wonders of the world that drug stores do not furnish the same temptation as banks to knights of the chisel. A pound jar of hyoscine is worth just $2, $40 the world over. Jaborine is a little less presumptuous as to price; it costs $1,500 a pound and is used to cause perspiration. Ergotine crystals cost the druggist the trifling sum of $5,000 a pound. They are made from the ergot of rye. Narganine goes ergotine crystals one better and costs $6,800 a pound. It is used as an expectorant in bronchial troubles and as an emetic.—Exchange.

Outside the Gates.

Adam seemed happy, though paradise was lost.

"I don't see what you find funny about it," wept Eve.

"You women don't seem to have any sense of humor," replied her spouse. "We may be living in the suburbs now, but there is no train to catch here."

AN AWFUL RECORD

The Crimes of Murderer Alfred Knapp in Detail.

Alfred A. Knapp, the self-confessed stranger of five women and girls, has had a career of crime hardly without parallel. He spent two-thirds of his life in penitentiaries and jails, but for four or five foul murders to which he confessed he had gone scot free, and unsuspected until a few unguarded words let loose, set the sleuths of the law upon him.

He admitted poisoning upon innocent children and the wives of his bosom alike, and choking them to death according to his statement. He was twice in state's prison for fiendish assaults upon women, it is known. Since early childhood he had been a fiend and a degenerate.

On Dec. 22, 1902, Hannah Goddard Knapp, the third wife of the stranger disappeared from her home in Hamilton, but this was not generally known until Feb. 22, when Ed King, of Cincinnati, a brother-in-law of Knapp, began an investigation. Suspicion turned to Knapp, who had gone to Indianapolis, where he had married Anna May Gamble, a notorious bright orphan ward of an old broken-down soldier. Knapp was arrested and returned to Hamilton without protest, thinking he had been arrested on a minor charge. On his arrival at Hamilton he was charged with the murder of his wife. He finally confessed.

He said he had strangled her and disposed of her by putting her in the shoe box and throwing it into the Ohio river on Dec. 22. Then he visited his brother-in-law at Cincinnati and returned to Hamilton and shipped his effects to Indianapolis, arriving there Jan. 2. On Feb. 26 Knapp made the following written confession:

"Confession of Albert A. Knapp: On June 21, 1894, I killed Emma Littleman in a lumber yard on Gest street in Cincinnati, and on Aug. 1, 1894, I killed May Eckert on Walnut street, opposite the Y. M. C. A. building in Cincinnati, and on Aug. 7, 1894, I killed my wife, Jennie Knapp, under the canal bridge at Liberty street, Cincinnati, and threw her in the canal, and in July, 1895, I killed Ida Gephardt, in Indianapolis, and on Dec. 22, 1902, I killed my wife, Hannah Knapp, at 339 South Fourth street, in Hamilton, Ohio, and threw her in the river by Lindenwald—this is the truth."

The plea of the defense was insanity and Knapp's lawyers were surprised when the jury brought in a first degree verdict without a recommendation of mercy.

READ ALL THIS.

You Never Know the Moment This Information May Prove of Infinite Value.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Jacksonville people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Jacksonville reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors cheerfully given by them will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far-away places. Read the following:

Capt. F. C. Taylor, of 27 East State street, says he should be pleased with what brought about such coveted results. The captain says: "Those who have any trouble whatever from their kidneys and wish to suffer as they go through life should avoid taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They effected a cure in my case and I can cheerfully recommend them to my friends who have a similar ailment." The captain was like hundreds of citizens of Jacksonville. They were warned; they neglected the warning, complicated difficulties follow; they begin to realize their danger and anxiously look for some agent to relieve them. After trying a half dozen remedies and probably consulting a physician they find their physical condition far from being improved. In fact it is often the opposite. Now when an unfailing remedy like that which Captain Taylor tested and proved to be up to its representations is offered Jacksonville people would it not be the height of folly to ignore such valuable information?

THE JEFFRIES BAND

Will Leave Sunday for Clinton Missouri.

The Jeffries Concert band will leave Sunday morning for Clinton, Mo., where they will fill a ten days' engagement at the Clinton Chautaqua. They will spend Sunday in St. Louis, leaving there for Clinton in the evening.

After completing their engagement at Clinton, the band will return to this city, and on Aug. 5 will leave for Owensboro, Ky., where they will again play at the Seven Hills Chautaqua. This will make their third appearance at Owensboro within a year, the second having been the past spring, when they played at the state convocation of the Knights of Pythias. On both their former visits there they were enthusiastically received, their welcome being especially overwhelming on their second visit.

The band will also play their regular engagement at the Illinois state fair this fall. These with several minor engagements will constitute a very busy season for the band.

Since the organization of the band in 1882 it has achieved a wide reputation throughout the country, having played at different times in various parts of this and other states.

It was for years known as the Jacksonville Juvenile band, but early in 1902 the name was changed to the Jeffries' Concert band. It has numbered many musicians of unusual ability among its members, and the organization is now perhaps stronger than ever before.

The following will probably be the instrumentation at Clinton:
Charles Curtin Jeffries, director,
J. Bart Johnson, manager,
B. M. Hayden, piccolo,
M. H. Walter, Eb clarinet,
M. T. Kennedy, Bb clarinet,
R. L. Devore, Bb clarinet,
D. G. Waters, Bb clarinet,
J. E. Markille, Bb clarinet,
Charles A. Sheppard, cornet,
Will Day, cornet,
J. H. Brown, horn,
George Haerle, horn,
Joseph Tormey, saxophone,
O. K. Taylor, trombone,
H. Jack Johnson, trombone,
Fred Carriel, baritone,
H. C. White, Bb bass,
H. O. White, snare drum,
C. A. Carriel, bass drum.

The band possesses a complete camping outfit for use during long engagements, so they are made periods of recreation as well as of profit.

During the engagement at Owensboro, a party consisting of Mrs. C. C.
Jeffries and son, Mrs. J. B. Johnson and son, Mrs. H. J. Johnson and son, and Miss Onken, of Champaign, will probably be with the band.

TO BE MUSTERED OUT.
Friends of Lee C. Richardson have received the information that he will be mustered out of the United States service to day at Angel Island, and will arrive here the middle of next week, after first visiting his mother in Chicago. He has been with the army in the Philippines for the past three years.

Wind Was Bad for Play.

Two interesting golf contests were held at the Country club links Friday. Both were handicap contests, one being for players who have a record of 50 strokes or less and the other being for players having a record of over 50 strokes. The first contest was for 18 holes play and was won by George Scurlock with a handicap of 10. C. C. Phelps won second place with a handicap of 18. In the second contest, which was for 9 holes play, F. J. Waddell won the honors with a handicap of 5. For second place three players tied, Messrs. H. L. Doan, Frank Byrns and J. W. Hubble. These gentlemen will play off the tie at some later date.

Considering the wind the scores were very good indeed. First and second prizes were awarded in each contest; the award of the second prize in the second contest, however, will be withheld until the gentlemen above named play off the tie. The

VERY REMARKABLE CURE OF

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says
Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas.
"I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more mis-worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for phy-without avail. Finally we moved to Losque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an adver-

Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonder-ful.
I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by all

"Governor Yates' fences are in danger and he is hurrying to get back," remarks one of the pugwump Chicago papers. It will be remembered that, when the governor left on his vacation, he asserted that he would try to be back by July 15. The date has been extended to July 25.

The Bordeaux liquid mixture is recognized as perhaps the most successful preparation that has ever been discovered for the destruction of fungous diseases and insect enemies of fruit trees, vines and garden crops. But during certain wet seasons, says the Missouri agricultural experiment station, the liquid spray has not proven successful, and a dust powder spray of the same chemical composition and effectiveness has been sought by Missouri fruit growers, without success. The chemist of the Missouri station has for some time been endeavoring to perfect a method of preparing the dry Bordeaux mixture so that the resulting compound would have exactly the same desirable chemical composition as the liquid preparation. The result of this investigation is a very fine powder which contains copper in the same form that occurs in the properly made liquid Bordeaux mixture. Bulletin 60 by R. M. Bird has been used by the Missouri experiment station which gives directions for making this powder.

In Sioux county, Nebraska, a man holds the office of school director and likewise a trusteeship of the district school in a South Dakota county just across the state line. He claims to be entitled to both offices, and cannot be dispossessed of either. His house is built on the state line and when he goes to bed his head is in one state and his foot in the other, so that he is legally a resident of both. He votes at the school election held in both districts and claims he is entitled to do so, and thus far no law has been found that can reach his case. In Lincoln the home of the late Peter Lilly was similarly situated in two wards, but Mr. Lilly was required to declare his residence in one of the wards.

SOME SUICIDE STATISTICS.

The subject of suicide has finally come to the point of elucidation and discussion from an analytical standpoint. Prof. William B. Bailey, of Yale, has brought out some interesting facts based on 29,344 cases of suicide, covering the period from 1897 to 1901. Using the 10,000 unit, he finds that 7,781 males and 2,219 females found life intolerable and, despairing of mending, ended it. This leaves the ratio of cowardice 3 1/2 to 1 in favor of feminine courage. Almost two-thirds of the suicides occurred between the ages of 20 and 50. Curiously enough, there are more married men more likely to take the plunge than married women, single, widowed and divorced women are more prone to kill themselves than unattached males. Business losses are more likely to drive people to suicide than ill health, insanity, disappointment in love or strong drink. Monday is the favorite day for the rash deed, while few take the step on Saturday. Professor Bailey's explanation is as follows: "For those who have endured throughout the week there is pay day at hand, followed by a day of rest. Among the males Monday is pre-eminently a day for suicide. Females prefer Sunday to Monday. Religious excitement may have something to do with this; but nearly a third of the domestic troubles leading to suicide come on Sunday. More than one-fourth of the suicides from financial trouble and ill health among females occur on Monday. They apparently lack of the courage in their weak or impoverished condition to take up the struggle of a new week. Of 10,000 cases, 3,097 occurred in the twelve hours before noon and 5,848 during the remaining twelve hours. Beginning with midnight here is a continuous increase until 6 p. m. The three hours from 6 to 9 p. m. show a falling off, while from 9 o'clock till midnight is the period of greatest frequency." Some years ago it was discovered that a large number of suicides were committed on the same day. There are a good many other facts which are interesting, but it is doubtful if few of the whole are of any importance. Still there is a possibility of benefit in the study of the subject.

THE "ROUND ROBIN."

No One Knows Origin of the Strange Term.

A "round robin" is one of those documents of which the name is familiar to most people, but which uncommonly few have ever seen or signed. Every one knows that the thing which bears so singular a name is a communication—letter, remonstrance, warning or the like—the signatures to which are written around the circumference of the circle which incloses the body of the epistle, or radiating therefrom like the spokes of a wheel from a hub, so that the responsibility of signing is equally shared. No one signatory can be accused of being either the first or the last to sign, of being the leader of the whipper in.

The most famous example on record probably is the remonstrance which was sent to Dr. Johnson in connection with his epitaph on Oliver Goldsmith. The doctor had prepared an epitaph in Latin, but some of his friends, who had also been friends of Goldsmith, took exception to it on two grounds, the first being, that it did not quite do justice to the author of the "Traveler" as a writer, and particularly as a poet, and the second that it should be written in English. The party of friends were gathered around Sir Joshua Reynolds' hospitable if somewhat ill served table, and though they found themselves in general agreement on these two points, no one had the courage to be willing to "bell the cat," or, in other words, to take the lead in tackling the formidable Johnson on these two rather delicate matters. "At last," says Sir William Forbes, "it was hinted that there could be no way so good as that of a round robin, as the sailors call it, which they make use of when they enter a conspiracy so as not to let it be known who puts his name first or last to the paper."

The idea was at once accepted, the address to Dr. Johnson was prepared and all signed it in the form proposed. This very interesting paper is still extant and is preserved among other valuable manuscripts in the library of Hailg Hall, near Wigan, the seat of the Earl of Crawford. It begins, "We, the undersigned, and the signatures, written around the circle which incloses the address, include those of Gibbon, Burke, Joseph Warton, Sheridan, Sir Joshua Reynolds, George Colman and half a dozen others which are nowadays but little known. Johnson took the remonstrance in good part, but as to not writing the epitaph in Latin, declared that he would never consent to disgrace the walls of Westminster abbey with an English inscription! The whole story is eminently characteristic both of Johnson and his times.

No one has yet been able to give a satisfactory explanation of the strange term "round robin."—London Globe.

Breaking It Gently.

This is a true account of one person's idea of "breaking the news gently." The cook, whose home was off in the country, appeared before the "powers above" with a letter in her hand. "I'll have to go home for a couple of days, mum," she said. "My cousin's just written to me." And she handed over the crumpled bit of paper with an audible sniff.

"Dear Mary," it ran, "you had better come home at once. Your father is very sick." And it continued with many particulars of the illness.

At the end was a postscript which, like the old joke of a woman's P. S., had the pith of the matter. "So long as you'll be driving up from the village you may as well bring the undertaker along with you in the wagon."—New York Times.

Sir Henry Irving's Wit.

On one occasion Sir Henry Irving's company, having been called to the theater for rehearsal, found upon their arrival that they were considerably ahead of time. As Sir Henry had not yet arrived, one of the actors in the company who was noted for his accomplishments as a mimic proceeded to give a lively and elaborate imitation of Sir Henry's highly characteristic acting. As he finished his demonstration a well known voice came from the depths of the darkened auditorium:

"Very good," it said; "very good indeed—so good, in fact, that there is no need for both of us in this company."—Harper's.

What Is Known About Fish.

Pliny, the great naturalist, who lived at about the time of Christ, reckoned the whole number of known species of fish at ninety-four. Linnaeus, the great Swedish investigator of the eighteenth century, could classify 478, and he is known to have been the greatest ichthyologist of the age in which he lived. The progress made in that particular branch since the time of Linnaeus seems all the more wonderful, for now 13,000 species show up in the catalogues of the fish specialists.

MISTAKES OF BIRDS.

They Are the Result of Contact With Civilization.

Probably in a state of wild nature birds never make mistakes, but where they come in contact with our civilization they are confronted by new conditions they very naturally make mistakes. For instance, their cunning in nest building sometimes deserts them. The art of the bird is to conceal its nest both as to position and as to material, but now and then it is betrayed into weaving into its structure showy and bizarre bits of this or that, which give its secret away and which seem to violate all the traditions of its kind. I have the picture of a robin's nest before me upon the outside of which are stuck a small muslin flower, a leaf from a small calendar and a photograph of a local celebrity. A more incongruous use of material in bird architecture it would be hard to find. I have been told of another robin's nest upon the outside of which the bird had fastened a wooden label from a near by flower bed marked "Wake Robin." Still another nest I have seen built upon a large, showy foundation of the paperlike flowers of antemaria, or everlasting. The wood thrush frequently weaves a fragment of newspaper or a white rag into the foundation of its nest. "Evil communications corrupt good manners." The newspaper and the rag bag unsettle the wits of the birds.

The phoebe bird is capable of this kind of mistake or indiscretion. All the past generations of her tribe have built upon natural and therefore neutral sites, usually under shelving and overhanging rocks, and the art of adapting the nest to its surroundings, blending it with them, has been highly developed. But phoebe now frequently builds under our sheds and porches, where, so far as concealment is concerned, a change of material, say from moss to dry grass or shreds of bark, would be an advantage to her. But she departs not a mile from the family traditions; she uses the same woody masses which in some cases, especially when the nest is placed upon unevenly sawed timber, makes her secret an open one to all eyes.—John Burroughs in Century.

He Didn't Understand.

A little fellow out West Roxbury way some ten years old, perhaps twelve, bested his grandmothers the other day rather neatly. All three were at the table when one of the ladies casually mentioned the name of the family nurse. Immediately the little fellow wanted to know who the lady was. One grandma innocently remarked that it was the nurse that took care of the boy when he was born.

"But why didn't mamma take care of me? I was her baby, wasn't I?" queried the little fellow. "True," says grandma; "but you see, mamma doesn't understand how to look after little babies, particularly the first one, and we have to have nurses who have learned how in the hospitals." That seemed to settle it, but all of a sudden the little fellow blurted out: "Well, then, who took care of Cain?"—Boston Traveler.

Blindfold.

Nine persons out of ten would probably give the derivation of blind as coming directly from blind and fold, from the practice of folding a cloth round the eyes, as in the game of blind man's bluff. The word has, however, nothing to do with fold, but means felled or struck blind and might be written blindfelled. In the same way, the word butterfly is easily confused with the common term butter, with which, however, it has no connection save in the minds of those who do not know it to be a contraction for butterfly, a place where bottles are kept and over which the butterfly, or butter, presides.—Chambers' Journal.

The Easy Route.

The old squire lay a-dying, and his faithful coachman was summoned to the bedside. "Well, John," said the old squire, "I'm going now on a longer journey than ever you could drive me." "Never mind, squire," replied the coachman, "I'll be down all the way."—London Globe.

INVISIBLE LIGHT.

Only When It Strikes the Retina of the Eye Can It Be Seen.

What is the simplest demonstration of the fact that light is invisible? The blackness of a midnight sky demonstrates this fact most readily. We may see the planets of the moon brilliantly illuminated by the sun's rays, but the surrounding space is dark, although we know that light must be passing there.

The passage of a beam of light through a darkened room is only visible on the dust in the air, and the cone of light seen when the sun shines through a small hole in a shutter is not visible, but only light reflected from the notes in the beam. This can be easily and simply demonstrated by placing in the beam a glass vessel from which the dust has been carefully removed. The beam then may be seen before and after entering the vessel, but is invisible within. A Bunsen burner or a redhot poker held so as to destroy the notes will also render the beam invisible at that spot.

Light is only visible when it strikes on the retina of the eye, and it can only do so when it reaches it in a direct line or is turned by a reflection or refraction into a direct line. Just as the bullets from a gun do a man no harm unless aimed or turned in their course toward his body, so light is without effect unless it is aimed or turned toward the retina.—Pearson's Weekly.

First Women on the English Stage.

It is only with the restoration drama that the annals of actresses on the English stage begin. Queen Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I, had early made a vain attempt to introduce the French fashion of female players into her adopted country by the establishment of a French company composed only of women in London. But the experiment was premature, and the foreigners were hissed and pelted off the stage at their first performance.

Until 1690 the female parts had always been taken by boys, and the custom survived even after women had taken their place upon the stage, since some of the more famous of the boy actors (grown into men) continued occasionally to play their favorite roles as late as the end of the seventeenth century. Kynaston, the chief boy actor, survived till 1690, long after the ladies had ousted him from the principal parts, and in 1691 Pepys, who saw him in the "Silent Woman," speaks of him as "the liveliest lady for a boy" he had ever seen.

Advice.

The best advice that can be given probably is: Take all the advice you can get and then do as you please. The successful person, or the one whom the crowd counts successful, is being constantly besieged with applications for advice how to succeed. He is generally incapable of giving it. The same advice, outside of a few maxims generally applicable, is seldom good for two persons. Advice, as a rule, is cheap and about as valuable as most cheap things. To be constantly following advice without stopping to consider its source is the plain mark of weakness. It is this trait of weak human nature which makes the business of the patent medicine maker so profitable. The person who takes advice in generous quantities, the world would be better off if advice were much less plentiful. Then, perhaps, its quality might rise in proportion to its scarcity.—New London Telegraph.

Sleep.

Sleep begins, in its first phase, by a state of distraction which brings on states of absent mindedness accompanied always by numerous and separate hallucinations closely connected with the length of the absent minded states. Immediately afterward, in a second phase, these states of distraction pass into a very delicate motor disturbance, due to the absence of parallelism in the axes of the eyes or by the deviation of their conjugate movements. Then, in a third and final phase, which indicates the very near approach of actual sleep, the vasomotor system seems to conform to laws very different from those that regulate its mechanism during waking hours.—Revue Scientifique.

A Gentleman.

What is it to be a gentleman? Is it to have lofty aims, to lead a pure life, to keep your honor virgin, to have the esteem of your fellow citizens and the love of your friends, to bear good fortune meekly, to suffer evil with constancy, and through evil and good to maintain truth always? Show me the happy man whose life exhibits these qualities, and him we will salute as gentleman, whatever his rank may be. Show me the prince who possesses them, and he may be sure of our love and loyalty.—Thackeray.

Two Views of It.

"What do you think of married life?" asked the bespectacled man, addressing the youthful bridegroom. "Bliss is no name for it," said the young husband enthusiastically. "You are right," said the bespectacled one gloomily. "Bliss is no name for it."

Quite Capable.

"He's a remarkably frank man." "How so?" "Why, the barman asked him if he was sure he could take care of her when he proposed, and he said he was sure he could if he had her money to go with."—Chicago Post.

Speaking Well.

The Queen: What do you think of the prospect of the married life of the Duke of Devonshire?"

The Duke: "I think it is a very good prospect, but I don't think it is a very good prospect for me."—London Globe.

JULY ENVY.

Somewhere
The polar bear
Sleeps on his bed of snow!
Across the vast expanse,
Where snowflakes dance,
He sleeps, his majesty, the bear!
No sultry glare
Disturbs his dreams,
There only gleams
The softened Boreall light
Through his luxurious arctic night.
He sleeps alone,
Man is unknown—
Ice-man and plumber, dairyman and grocer.
When he asks credit none can tell him, "No, sir!"
And bliss of blisses! There the months pass by
With no thermometers and no July
Would I were there
Somewhere
Up with the polar bear.

An Inconvenient Piano.

Lepold de Meyer of Dresden, a brilliant and popular pianist of his day, was once summoned to play before the sultan at Constantinople. Going thither, he borrowed a grand piano from one of the Austrian secretaries of legation and had it set up in a large reception room at the palace. There he awaited the coming of the sultan, but when that intelligent monarch entered the room he started back in alarm and demanded of his attendants what that monster was standing there on three legs.

Explanations followed, but were in vain. The legs had to be taken off and the body of the instrument laid flat on the floor, and Lepold de Meyer, squatting cross legged on a mat, went through his programme as best he could in that awkward attitude and without pedals. But the commander of the faithful was delighted, and when the last piece was played gave the artist over $5,000 as "backsheesh."

A Carved Cherry Stone.

Dr. Peter Oliver, who lived in England during the early part of the eighteenth century, tells of seeing a carved cherry stone which would be a wonder even in this age of fine tools and fine workmanship.

The stone was one from a common cherry, and upon it were carved the heads of 124 popes, kings, queens, emperors, saints, etc. Small as they must necessarily have been, it is announced on the authority of Professor Oliver that with a good glass the heads of the popes and kings could readily be distinguished from those of the queens and saints by their miters and crowns. The gentleman who brought this little wonder to England purchased it in Prussia, allowing the original owner $5,000 for his treasure. Think of it—$25,000 for a cherry seed!

A Spirit to Be Deplored.

Just where honorable industry ends and avaricious piling up of treasure begins no one can take it upon himself to say. The spirit, however, that impels a young man to sacrifice all the nobler aims of life in order to turn a liberal competence into wealth too great to be spent (and the giving away of which, unless carefully regulated, is a doubtful good) is certainly to be deplored.—Ellet Gregory in Century.

Soliloquy.

Soliloquy—You want to be made bankrupt, do you? Very well, I'll put it through for you. Just give me a check for $100 on account of preliminary expenses.

Client—But I haven't got any money at all.

Soliloquy—Then why the dickens do you come to me? Here it all runs and runs.

ISSUED PROCLAMATION

Mayor Harrison Takes Action
in Regard to Labor Troubles —Injunction Sustained.

Chicago, July 17.—In view of the riotous conduct of strikers and their sympathizers Mayor Harrison has issued a proclamation urging people to stay away from the vicinity of the Kellogg Switchboard company plant, calling upon rioters to cease their work and warning all who interfere with officers they will be arrested and punished.

The only mixup of the afternoon occurred at the intersection of Taylor street and Hermitage avenue. A large crowd of men and boys pursuing a wagon load of freight sent out by the Kellogg company, finding themselves being distanced by the speed of the wagon, boarded a street car and ordered the motorman to take them in pursuit of the wagon. None would pay fares and the street car men refused to move the car until fares were paid. This angered the crowd and abandoning their pursuit of the wagon, which was by this time out of reach, turned their attention to the car. They bombarded the car with stones and not a pane of glass was left in it and the motorman and conductor narrowly escaped injury. A squad of police arrived in time to protect them.

President Young of the teamsters' union did not carry out the threat to stop the coal supply of the Edison company unless it shut off Kellogg's power. Young said, however, he had an agreement with the mine workers of Illinois through their secretary, W. D. Ryan, by which the miners would not mine coal for the Edison company. Ryan this afternoon declared he had no such agreement with Young, that the miners would keep on mining and carry out their contract and advised the teamsters to "stop that kind of talk."

DEATHS.

London, July 17.—James McNeill Whistler, the famous American artist, is dead.

Hartford, Conn., July 17.—Clement H. Broderick, a well known inventor and manufacturer of government ammunition, is dead, aged 50.

Hutchinson, Minn., July 17.—W. W. Pondorobach, for many years superintendent of public instruction of Minnesota, recently president of the State Horticultural society, is dead, aged 70.

PRODIGAL RETURNS.

Logansport, Ind., July 17.—Dennison Porter, aged 17, for whom officers have been searching for over two years, arrived home Thursday. Porter was in South Africa for several months during his absence and was the cause of a government investigation for the manner in which boys from this country were shipped to the Transvaal and then induced to join the British army. His father has spent nearly $2,400 trying to locate him. For the past few months the boy has been working on a farm near Clinton, Ill.

Said bids to be endorsed "Bids for coal for city schools," and filed at my office not later than the above date. ARMY OF SANTIAGO

Detroit, July 17.—At the afternoon business meeting of the Army of Santiago the old society was liquidated and a new incorporated society formed in accordance with an act of congress passed a year ago. The old names were retained and old officers re-elected. To night the Veterans of Santiago attended a banquet. Hon. J. M. Thurston was the principal speaker, his topic being "Our Country." In his address Thurston paid a glowing tribute to Senator Alger, declaring that "Michigan has crowned her great war secretary with the laurel of her approval, the American people have not been ungenerous in bestowing their need of praise" and that the "country knows and the world knows and impartial history will declare the war administration of Russell A. Alger stands first in all annals of recorded time."

Col. Arthur L. Wagner responded to "To Regular Army"; Gen. Joseph Wheeler, "The Cavalry Division"; Gen. Hamilton Hawkins, "The Infantry," and Maj. Gen. Charles Dick, of Ohio, "The American Soldier."

KANSAS WHEAT CROP.

D. E. Kennedy returned Friday evening from Grahfield, Kan., and states that there is the greatest demand in Kansas for farm hands ever known and that farmers are paying as high as $4 per day for ordinary labor. Even the women and children in many instances are in the fields assisting in harvesting the unusually heavy yield of wheat.

Mr. Kennedy says he has 160 acres of as fine wheat as he ever looked upon and that he commenced work upon it Monday. It will average twenty-five bushels to the acre. Kansas farmers are feeling in high glee over the flattering prospects for an abundant crop, such as they have not seen in many years.

FRIDAY'S WEATHER.

The weather man certainly gave us a variety yesterday. A refreshing shower in the early morning hours was followed by a most humid atmosphere throughout the day. This condition of things was made bearable by a south breeze that gave some relief to the intense humidity.

The electrical storm which gathered about sunset tinted the heavens in most gorgeous colors, although it gave to the sky an exceedingly ominous appearance. The yellow and greenish hues betokened cyclone weather and many were seen anxiously watching the clouds. There were really two storms and had they met here their full force would have been terrific. The heaviest looking clouds were in the northwest and they moved with great rapidity from northwest to southwest and passed on east of us. It is quite likely that the fury of the storm spent itself not far from us.

TALKS ABOUT UNIFORMS.

Former Adjutant General Smith was in Springfield yesterday and said that he scarcely believed the allegations made by Colonel Sanborn that the new khaki uniforms are not up to grade. Said he: "The contract for these uniforms called for about 7,500. Hirsch & Co., of Chicago, got part of the contract and the First regiment now in camp was fitted out by him. W. J. Fogarty and A. W. Klaholt, of this city, were each awarded a part of the contract. The suits these two firms furnished I know are all right. Of the clothing of the First I can not speak from experience or observation, because I have not seen the uniforms of that command. I am no longer adjutant general, but I know the samples submitted and which it is the duty of the contractors to follow were of the very best cloth and make."

The new court house steps were ready for use yesterday and were opened for pedestrians. The steps certainly constitute a great improvement.

GOOD TRADE
CONDITIONSREPORTED IN ALL LINES
OF BUSINESS

Railway Earnings for July Exceed Last Year by 13.6 Per Cent.—Good Weather Stimulates Retail Business.

New York, July 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade says: Conditions continue satisfactory outside the region of speculation; many reports indicating further improvements. Crops are making rapid progress and the army of unemployed is diminishing. Railway traffic is heavy, earnings thus far reported for July exceeding last year's by 13.6 per cent and 1903 by 13.2. Retail trade in reasonable merchandise is fully up to the average and there is less than customary midsummer quiet among wholesalers, while preparations of jobbers and manufacturers indicate confidence in a large fall business. It is a season of uncertainty in the manufacture of cotton goods and nothing in the nature of improvement can be expected until artificial position of the raw material is radically altered. Supplies of cotton goods in first hands are low and there is no effort to awake spot sales. Buyers fill their requirements for immediate distribution, but in no department of this great industry is there any inclination to anticipate the needs of even the near future. As supplies diminish there is corresponding stiffening of quotations. Mills are steadily curtailing the production both here and abroad. New lightweight woolens are being opened with fair results, only buyers exhibiting any anxiety regarding the future. Western jobbers are operating freely in the Boston footwear market both on contracts for spring goods and supplementary fall orders. Failures this week 213 in the United States, against 213 last year.

BRADSTREET'S.

The well kept perfect summer weather helps crops, increases confidence in fall trade and stimulates the retail and summer resort business. Lower prices for many staples are really an encouraging development because favorable to a wider and freer use of products heretofore impracticable under past abnormal conditions. Salient features in trade reports this week are better tone of trade advice from southwest, where feeling grows that a large business will be done. Unsatisfactory outlook for immediate and future supplies of cotton limits activity in cotton manufacturing at the east, short time being the rule at all leading centers, but the wool market is strong with more doing both in raw material and in manufactured products. Unprecedented activity is noted in the anthracite coal trade. Final returns from foreign trade point to the largest aggregate on record, due, however, to 13 per cent gain in imports, because exports fell off 2.6 per cent from last year and 3 per cent from the record of 1901.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending July 16, were 3,522,000 bushels, against 3,775,000 bushels this week last year; for two weeks of the cereal year, 1,032,000 bushels, against 8,179,000 in 1902. Corn exports for the week, 1,402,000 bushels, against 1,310,000 a year ago; for the two weeks of the present cereal year, 2,927,000 bushels, against 316,000 in 1902.

A VIRGINIA SENSATION

Elopement of George Hartman and Mrs. McDowell Causes Excitement.

Virginia is much excited over the elopement of George Hartman, clerk at the Mann hotel of that city, and Mrs. Pearl McDowell, daughter of Benjamin Cooper, also of that city. Mrs. McDowell has been a widow less than a year and has a child between 2 and 3 years old. Prior to her husband's death she had been separated from him. Hartman has a wife and two children living in Mt. Sterling. He has tried to secure a divorce from his wife, but has been unsuccessful as yet.

The couple went from Virginia to Beardstown and it has been learned that they there bought tickets for St. Louis. The police are on the lookout for them.

Mrs. McDowell is about 25 years of age, rather pretty, with black hair and eyes. Hartman was at one time a soldier in the Philippines. It is said that he left some creditors in Virginia.

Mr. J. R. They have given the best of satisfaction to the trade. I have not had one complaint and have had many speak highly of both preparations. I use Re-Go Tonic Laxative Syrup and Harts' Honey and Horehound in my own family." No Gas!
No Soot!
No Smoke!

It is a Fuel Saver that has stood the test of many hard winters.

In the smallest furnace, the air, introduced and heated for the purpose of promoting combustion, travels nearly twenty feet in a channel encircling the hot fire bowl lining before being discharged upon the burning fuel. We do burn the bulk of the soot and carbonaceous gases, even when the commonest coal is used. It does this by means of more effectual combustion of the fuel in the fire bowl. It extracts a greater amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and burning the fuel more thorough and reduces the wasting of fuel through the smoke outlet.

We have put in nearly 300 furnaces in Jacksonville and Morgan county and refer you to users of our furnaces for recommendation. We have eight unfinished contracts for this season.

AT CAMP LINCOLN

First Regiment Flashed the Week's Drill Friday.

Colonel Sanborn's report to Adjutant General Scott, covering the encampment of the First regiment, which came to a close last night at Camp Lincoln, shows that the command has derived more benefit from this annual tour of duty than at any previous encampment within the recollection of the colonel, who has served twenty-five years with that regiment. Whatever theory may be advanced verbally by Colonel Sanborn about the removal of the state encampment from Springfield, his report to the adjutant general in no way suggests that he is in accord with such a proposition. The reports of the colonels in the Chicago regiments upon the encampment of this year is being watched with interest, as it is the Chicago soldiery which inaugurated the plan to have the state troops encampment at Camp Logan.

No routine was adhered to in camp Friday. The morning's rain rendered drill impracticable, and the time was devoted to policing the camp and packing in preparation for the departure from camp, which was made at 11 o'clock last night.

The Second regiment of Chicago, which will occupy the camp next week, will arrive in Springfield 800 strong, having probably the largest number of enrolled men of any regiment.

RAN WITH A BINDER.

A serious accident occurred on the farm of Marcus Crum, a few miles south of Virginia, recently, in which an employee of Mr. Crum narrowly escaped being cut to pieces by a self-binder. He was cutting oats when a dog jumped out of the standing grain, frightening the horses, causing them to run away. The man was off the machine fixing the sickle which had become defective and so happened to be in such a position as to escape with only a few scars on one limb. The binder was completely wrecked.

OBJECT TO IMPROVEMENT.

The board of local improvement yesterday listened to objectors to the sewer and pavement proposed for Clay avenue. There were a good many objectors present, all of whom oppose the improvement because they do not feel able to meet the expense. The matter is under advisement by the board.

NEW WABASH WRECKER.

The middle division of the Wabash road is to have a new wreck car. The new derrick is the latest thing of the kind on the market. It will have a lifting capacity of sixty tons as compared with forty tons for the car now in service. The new one will be steam power, while the car now is a hand power affair. The old car is a double derrick operated from either end, while the new one will be on a short derrick with a swinging crane that will work from either end. When chains are properly placed about an overturned box car the new derrick will lift it clear from the ground with perfect ease and it may be swung into position over the track and slowly settled upon the rails.

In addition to this the car is so arranged that it will serve as the motive power for the wreck train, which it will move at the rate of six miles an hour. Of course when the call for the wreck train is made the expectation is that a locomotive will take the train to the scene, but there will be no necessity for the locomotive to remain there because the wreck car itself may be used for the purpose of shifting the cars. There are special provisions, too, for anchoring the car, a necessity in view of the great weights that it must lift.

LICENSED TO MARRY.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS

Spend Busy Day at Detroit—Four Rousing Meetings Were Held.

Detroit, July 17.—There was no lessening of enthusiasm among Epworth league to night and great crowds attended the four meetings held. "The Field Near at Hand," "Field Far Away" and "My Part in World's Evangelization" were topics at all meetings. Dr. H. M. Hamill, of Nashville, Tenn., talked on "Field Near at Hand" at the Tent Ontario meeting and in his address referred to the negro question. "We have made the negro," he said, "a thing to be battled to and fro by political parties and we have forgotten his religion in a large measure. What we need is to spend more time putting the grace of Christ in the hearts of the black people. What we need to do to solve the negro problem is to transform any instinct of savagery that may exist in the few of that race, in order stop the lighting of faggots and raising of stakes. It is our only hope, and when you of the north write resolutions condemning mob law, remember it is not Methodist hands that pull ropes and light fires."

"The Field Far Away" was discussed by Rev. J. W. Robinson, of Indiana. Rev. Horace Reed, of Decatur, Ill., presided over the meeting at Central church, where Rev. J. S. French, of Chattanooga, Tenn., spoke on "Field at Home." In the auditorium McDouglass Calvary, of Canada, and A. B. Leonard, of New York, were speakers. At the opera house Rev. Hiram Hull, of Arden, Manitoba, and Rev. J. D. Gamwell, a missionary, who made a splendid record at the siege of Peking, were speakers.

GO TO SPRINGFIELD.

At a regular meeting the Bloomington Trades Assembly the members voted to go to Springfield this year to participate in the Labor day celebration. There was a spirited contest on chiefly between Springfield and Peoria, but the former won out on the fourth ballot.

Police News.

The night police force raided the establishment kept by Ella Beavers Friday night and arrested the keeper and seven inmates.

Richard Mines was arrested by Captain Kennedy for drunkenness.

Ezra Wyatt was arrested by Officer Murgatroyd Friday, charged with drunkenness.
